Asolana Group is one of the partners that supported us in organising the charity project dedicated to IOV – the calendar "Visions" that will be presented in September and that presents 12 surreal shots of 12 photographers and artists.

Asolana put itself on the line together with Paoul, deciding to participate in this project offering its services for the printing of the calendars. In fact, their website states "In any field of action, experience shows that there are things that one can do and things that one cannot do. But the former are much more than one thinks, and the second are a lot less."

This is the philosophy of Asolana, which is much more than a typography, it's a network of evolved services that include the entire field of image.

So, thanks to Asolana: they proved us that, next to a reliable partner, the quality is not an option anymore, it becomes a certainty. www.tipografia.com
